Is Close. Charlottesville, Va., April 7.—Virginia won from Randolph-Macon today, 8 to 1. The Methodists put up a splendid article of ball for five innings, defeating Trinity College to-day by the twirlers seen here this season. He had too much speed for his catcher, however, and when his teammates began to pile up errors he began to sisue passes. Virginia collected but seven scattered hits, Neff getting the only real healthy clout of the game, a three-basger to deep left field. The Ashland team engineered three clever double plays, the pegging of Walker being especially good. The left-fieller also led with the stick, securing a corking double in the opening inning. Midyette pulled off a pretty backward franning catch of James's short fly in the seventh, with the bases choked. Stickley and Landes divided fielding honors for Virginia.

Defeat Brooklyn in Second Game, but Both Chance and Derrick Hurt.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Brooklyn, April 7 .- The Yankees defeated Brooklyn 8 to 4 to-day, but there is no joy in the camp of the victors to-night, as three of the Yankees, including Chance, will be out of the game for some time as the result of accidents. Chance twisted his left leg at the knee while rounding first base in the second inning, when he tried to stretch a single into a double. Chance walked off the field unassisted, and may not participate in the opening may not participate in the opening game of the season.

Warhop started the game, and in the first moment of play threw his arm "out" pitching a twister to Stengel. Upon Warhop's pitching Yankee followers have placed great dependence, but he will be out for probably two weeks. Derrick, who has been showing great style at short, split his thumb in the fifth, when Wheat spiked him in sliding into second. Derrick got his man, but the flesh between the thumb and index finger was almost torn away. Ragon and Wagner pitched for Brooklyn and Fisher went the entire route for the Yankees.
